FraSCAti is a middleware platform for service-oriented architectures (SOA) compliant with the OASIS/OpenSOA Service Component Architecture (SCA) standard. FraSCAti is the first reflective platform for SCA. It offers a unified model for the development of SOA middleware and application components.

Possible fields of application: large-scale distributed applications, back offices, web applications, mobile applications for smartphones

Java language, available for Windows, Unix and Mac OS X

Keywords: SCA, SOA, component, middleware

License: LGPL Licence. OW2 Consortium project

Academic partners: