Millefeuille

Millefeuille is a platform used to publish a historical document within the scope of a joint project with the National Archives. Documents are presented on the left, and the indices on the right.

Millefeuille facilitates the publication of XML documents, the creation and verification of indices, the synchronised visualisation in XML/HTML and collaborative work by using source management systems. Millefeuille is a plug-in within the Eclipse platform developed by IBM and its partners in order to program in several languages.

Possible fields of application:
Text editor, electronic publishing, electronic document management

Language, standard, environment: Eclipse plug-in, JAVA language

Licence: EPL (Eclipse Public License)

Keywords: Document, XML, Authoring